engineering feat is possible, if cost is no object, the U.S. Department of Transportation has entered the experimental auto business. The two models unveiled by Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman. Jr., were somewhat different from the more conventional models built by more experienced automakers.

For a starter, each of the cars cost the government more than $3 million. Even a newly wealthy oil sheik might cringe at that price tag. But the cars do have some unique safety equipment, which was the whole point of the department's auto show.

One of the criteria officials say the cars will meet is to protect their occupants from serious injury in a frontal impact at 50 mph, a side crash at 45 mph or a rear end collision at 50

The cars feature such unconventional options as an engine mounted sideways so it would not penetrate the passenger compartment in the event of a collision, and a computerized radar system which automatically applies the brakes if the vehicle is in imminent danger of collision. The department claims many of the safety systems designed into the experimental vehicles are available on the market today.

Perhaps Detroit's designers will gain some ideas from the innovations. They may find that transforming a gilded coach into a popularly priced vehicle is the biggest trick of all.

In discussing world economic and monetary problems, the delegates demonstrated an overwhelming consensus, although not complete sensus, although not complete unanimity, in targeting inflation — not unemployment — as the number one enemy. They did so not unmindful of unemployment's harsh effects, but convinced that improvements in employment, trade and other economic measurements depend upon containing inflation.

That was the message preached by U.S. Treasury Secretary William Simon and other U.S. officials, but it was a message many of the delegates appeared receptive to even before the conference began. A year or less ago, many of these same delegates would not have been so easily convinced.

Britain's terrible economic plight, and to a lesser extent conditions in France and Italy, coupled with admiration for President Ford's "slow policies of economic convinced most of the delegates that inflation was the first problem to be solved.

As the director-general of the Bank of Mexico, Ernesto Fernandez Hurtado, put it: "The combating of inflation does more to raise employment levels and correct balance of payments deficits than does an expansionist policy. The latter is frequently counterproductive."

Now that the enemy has been identified, the battle can begin in earnest.

Anything Possible If Money's No Object

Proving once again that nearly any engineering feat is possible, if cost is no object, the U.S. Department of Transportation has entered the experimental auto business. The two models unveiled by Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman, Jr., were somewhat different from the more conventional models built by more experienced automakers.

For a starter, each of the cars cost the government more than $3 million. Even a newly wealthy oil sheik might cringe at that price tag. But the cars do have some unique safety equipment, which was the whole point of the department's auto show.

One of the criteria officials say the cars will meet is to protect their occupants from serious injury in a frontal impact at 50 mph, a side crash at 45 mph or a rear end collision at 50

The cars feature such unconventional options as an engine mounted sideways so it would not penetrate the passenger compartment in the event of a collision, and a computerized radar system which automatically applies the brakes if the vehicle is in imminent danger of collision. The department claims many of the safety designed into experimental vehicles are available on the market today.

Perhaps Detroit's designers will gain some ideas from the innovations. They may find that transforming a gilded coach into a popularly priced vehicle is the biggest trick of all.

All Of A Sudden The Truth Strikes Home

Something strange in world economics happened at the World Bank-International Monetary Fund joint session held in Manila. A majority of the delegates representing nations from all parts of the world, large and small, came down with inflationitis.

In discussing world economic and monetary problems, the delegates demonstrated an overwhelming consensus, although not complete unanimity, in targeting inflation - not unemployment - as the number one enemy. They did so not unmindful of unemployment's harsh effects, but convinced that improvements in employment. trade and economic measurements depend upon containing inflation.

That was the message preached by U.S. Treasury Secretary William Simon and other U.S. officials, but it

There's no shortcut for achieving a harmonious human and natural envrionmental system. To almost use a well known phrase, a sustainable system will require a lot of 'agonizing appraisal" by many people, and probably won't be nearly realized till a sense of good will and individual stewardship for the natural environmental is far more widespread.

As for Proposal A, I intend to vote "yes" as a concrete expression of environmental concern. The difficulty of making a "ves" or "no" decision on Proposal A points up the necessity for separating primary interest in best use of resources from primary interest in expanding government power. This same problem is what makes the whole "ecology" movement simultaneously promising but sus-

These folks have received no other invitation than that given by the media. They have therefore been allowed to watch it, hear it, or to read about it, but not to participate in it. In fact the people have been kept away from the debates by battalions of armed police, many of whom have used large horses and crazy dogs to assure that only the swells would have the privilege of attendance.

Frankly, not to lessen my concern, I am not altogether surprised at this development. Presidential campaigns have increasingly become province of a handful of Americans at the expense of the many. The public is asked to contribute money to the candidates, to study the issue, and to eventually cast votes; but they may no longer get too close to, touch, strike up conversations or (heavens) argue in a partisan way with the comfortably isolated White House nominees.

I recall a recent trip south with candidate Jerry Ford. His staff said the journey was undertaken to give the Republican a "chance to meet the people, to Ford met no one save the regional party faithful, and listened only to those few in of millions of people toward authority who were ushered into government and its leaders.

Halloween Superstitions

Ghouls, goblins, ghosts and witches cast their spells upon all less frightening spirits every Halloween, as millions of people partake in this traditional holiday by carrying four less always and the second secon leaf clovers, avoiding ladders and preparing for the joyful onslaught of the neighbor's small-fry contingent.

Halloween was originally a Druid festival in honor of Samhain, Lord of the Dead. Its pagan origins and rites in direct contradiction to the Christian relebration of All Hallows Eve, which was initiated much later in the urth century. But the church chose to honor its dead on this particular day because it was already associated in the popular mind with a thronging of spirits — though, ironically, Hallowen spirits have always been "at war" with the souls of the Many superstitions, especially those pertaining to Halloween, are derived from what seemed more than logical to the person of the Middle Ages. Today, superstitions are more fun than fears, but some have fascinating origins that should never be forgotten.

For instance, the colors of orange and black that have come to symbolize Halloween, stand for the harvest season and for the celebration of the dead.

There are many stories as to why the number 13 has become so dreaded throughout the world. The two most acceptable are that there were 13 persons at the Last Supper (Jesus and the 12 Apostles), and that all local witches' covens have 13 members (12 witches and the Knocking on wood is associated with the cross. Not only do many people consider knocking on wood a lucky practice, but many churches around the world cherish pieces of wood that they believe might have come from the cross of Christ or that symbolizes it.

Another lucky symbol, the four leaf clover, was said to have been taken by Eve from the Garden of Eden to always remind her of the happiness she found there.

Horseshoes are said to be lucky because it was believed that witches feared horses and a horsesboe at the door of the house would scare the witch away.

Walking under a ladder is bad luck, they say, because the ladder leaning against the wall forms a triangle, and to walk through it is a defiance of a sacred religious symbol.

The black cat is a familiar bad luck symbol and if one crosses your path on Halloween — watch out! Actually, cats were thought to be companions and familiars of witches sometimes even transformed witches themselves. Medieval Europeans burned black cats alive on Halloween (after burning humans was outlawed) as a sign of the destruction of evil.

Lights and torches have always been burned to frighten away supernatural beings. The Jack O' Lantern, carved out of a rutabaga in Scotland and Ireland, was set on every doorstep on Halloween, its grotesque face lit by a candle, for this very reason.

The legend of Jack, who outwitted the Devil once too often and was left to wander eternally between Heaven and Hell with only a coal-lit pumpkin to guide him, is a fittingly scary story for Halloween.

In the Highlands, on the last day of October, the children go forth to gather dry ferns and branches for fires. The gleanings are piled on the highest spot near the house and the fire is lit. Whole districts are bathed in the glow, various bouseholds vying with one another to have the biggest blaze — thus keeping the most goblins away.

Folks have always gathered together for feasting and games on Halloween. The adults nibble on nuts and apples, traditional Halloween fare and sip Drambule or any of the other romantic liqueurs such as Peter Heering from Denmark, Tia Maria from the island of Jamaica or Napoleon's favorite cognac, Courvoisier. They exchange Halloween legends and stories in whispers, while the children spend the evening playing games of divination.

These games, the outcome of which predict the future, were supposed to be guided by the fairles that abound on

Scottish and Irish children brought them to America, where today they survive most notably in the pastime of ducking for apples. In the original game each apple was marked with the name of a playmate. The apple that one ducked out of the water foretold future marriage commit-

Other games of divination played by European children included putting pairs of nuts named for two "lovers" on the hearth. If both burned evenly, then their union would be happy. If one or both cracked or jumped into the fire the couple would quarrel and separate. If one caught on fire and the other didn't, then one person would love madly and the other would be rejected.

A third game, often played quite seriously by girls, was to pare an apple into nine pieces while standing in front of a mirror. She would see the face of the man she would marry over her shoulder in the mirror, asking for a piece of

Treats For Trick-Or-Treaters

The word "Halloween" is of Christian origin and refers to the eve of All Hallows or All Saints' Day which falls on Nov.

Long ago various methods of divining the future were used on Halloween and the results were accepted with all'seriousness. It was a time of mystic rites and solemn ceremonies.

Today Halloween is a time for parties and merrymaking highlighted by the custom of trick-or-treating when children go about the neighborhood wearing masks and fancy cos-tumes and asking at the houses for treats - under threat of a mischievous trick.

Successed here are some Halloween party treats.

DEVIL'S FUDGE Makes #6 pieces Two cure enoug Three-fourths cup undiluted evaporated milk

One pkg. (six-ounce) semi-weet checulate morsels One teaspoon vanilla extract

One cup cockiall peanuts In a two and one-half quart saucepan, combine sugar, evaporated milk and margarine. Stir to blend. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a full boil. Boil three minutes. Remove from heat; immediately add chocolate morsels

Stir until metted and mixture is smooth and well blended. Stirin vanilla extract and peanuts. Spread into lightly greased eight-inch square pan. Chill until firm. Cut into squares to

GRAPE WITCHES' BREW
Makes four to six servings One can (six-onnce) frozen concentrated concord grape juice, thawed and undiluted

Two tablespoons honey
Two tablespoons lemon juice One-fourth teaspoon ground ginger

One cinnomen stick Two whole cloves

In a saucepan combine all ingredients. Heat over low heat until liquids are bot; mixture does not have to boil. Let stand five minutes: remove cippamon stick and cloves. Serve hot in mugs.

If you are playing hostess to a party for trick-or-treaters after they make their rounds, here are some snacks that will hold their own with the loot in the treat bag.

PEANUT CANDY APPLES Makes six to eight Three-fourths cup smooth eanut butter

Six to eight eating apples Turee cups sugar Three-fourths cap corn syrup One cup water

Wash apples and insert a wooden skewer into center of each apple. In a saucepan, combine sugar, corn syrup and water. Heat, while stirring, until sugar dissolves. Continue cooking to 240 degrees on a candy thermometer (or when a small amount of the syrup dropped into very cold water forms a soft ball which flattens on removal from water).

Remove from heat and stir in peanut butter. Dip each apple into syrup to coat. Stand apples skewer side up on a buttered plate to cool.

Youngsters will enjoy helping to make Pineapple Goblin Jumbles. Let them drain the pineapple and snip gumdrops. Even drop the cookie dough onto the baking sheets. Who cares if they are not perfect

For years, the battle has raged on about whether a child is the product of his heredity or his environment

To me, the division has always been clear-cut.

A child is influenced by three factors: life about him, plus dominant genes from his mother's side and dominant genes from his father's side.

Ironically, all three of our children share evenly in the distribution

From their environment they cleaned had language nour judgment, hopeless dependency on the telephone, lack of motor skills to pick up a towel or replace a cap on the toothpaste, little realism concerning money, disregard for responsibility and job opportunities, the need for 18 hours of sleep. impeluous decisions that never work out, a dress code that is sub-standard, and a rash that appears when it is suggested they write a thank-you note.

From their father they inherited shortness, frequent nosebleeds, poor spelling, uverconfidence, no memory, toeing in, allergies to dust and mold, uncontrollable cowlicks, weak ankles, inability to conquer math, tendency to put on weight, short interest span, sulking over Monopoly shyness, a definite weakness for losing anything of value, ear sickness, poor taste in friends, the lack of wisdom to know

Ouestions For The Therapist

Dear Ann Landers: I'm in a marriage that is not going well. I feel I am not handling my life properly, that my husband takes me for granted and I am overreacting to my children's problems. I've been thinking of seeing a psychiatrist although two of my friends have told me to save my money. Psychiatry did nothing for them.

Detroit To Get Transit Funds

Associated Press Writer LANSING, Mich. (AP)

Fonstruction of a massive public transportation system in the metropolitan Detroit area is expected to begin in 1978 after the federal government's promise to provide $600 million promise in funding.

The commitment ennoun Washington was announced by Gov. William Milliken on Tuesday, after he returned from a meeting at the White House on Monday President Ford.

. Milliken said Ford personally approved "a commitment in principle" to fund the rail-bus expected to Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. When combined with state and local funds, the project will carry a pricetag of some $800 million. Milliken said it would create more than 15,000 jobs.

Milliken made the announcement at a joint news conference with Detroit Mayer Coleman Young, state trans-portation officials and lawmakers who helped gain enactment of the local funding legislation.

The bill to raise matching funds passed last month after weeks of stalemate in the state House. Under the new law, residents in the three-county area will pay an extra $2.50 in license plate fees and an extra $6 for auto title transfers.

state is expected to kick in another $25 million to attract the federal funding

Milliken said the first step in the mass transit program would be an analysis conducted by the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA), probably early next year, on the various possible types of public transportation.

Construction on the system probably would begin in 1978. he said, but he declined to es-timate when buses or trains have begun with union leaders in an attempt to reach an agreement on avoiding labor disputes during the construction process.

The project will also require a commitment to upgrade skills through apprenticeship programs and expanded job opportunities, he said.

When combined with needed private investment along the transit corridors and new state

Milliken said, the entire project could reach $1.2-$1.5 billion.

Young said the transit system would likely include bus and rail service, but he felt a subway also was essential despite strong legislative opposition to a subway system.

"I regard this as a first step in a comprehensive transportation and economic development program for this vital regional of Michigan," Milliken said, "an as an important step in development of a total transportation program for all of Michigan.

Both Milliken, a Republican, and Young, a Democrat, declined to read any political motive into Ford's approval of the transit money two weeks before the election.

Young said he would "not, look a partisan gift horse in the mouth, and said he felt Ford's sensitivity toward the problems of the cities "has gone up-several points."

Carter Hits Slackers; Ford Plugs For Defense

By BAVE RELEY
Associated Press Writer
Jimmy Carter is growing

increasingly concerned about all those Americans who don't plan to vote, and he's reminding his supporters of past instances when only a few ballots changed the nation's history.

In his speeches this week, Carter has leaned heavily on listeners who may be thinking of sitting out the 1976 campaign and has urged his supporters to spare no effort to get potential slackers to the pulls.

Both Carter and President Ford are off the campaign trail today, Ford in Washington and Carter at home in Plains, Ga. Both candidates plan to attend the annual Al Smith dinner in New York on Thursday. Their final debate is scheduled for Friday in Williamsburg, Va.

Although he remained at the White House on Tuesday. Ford found an opportunity to criticize Carter's proposals to cut the record defense budget, saying such cuts would make the nation weak. Carter has said he wants to cut from $5 billion to $7 billion from the Pentagon budget.

And Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger made a rare foray into the political arena in a speech in New York where he defended Ford's record on international human rights.

Both the vice presidential candidates, Democratic Sen. Walter Mondale and Republican Sen. Bob Dole, were on the road.

Sen. Bob Dole, were on the road. Carter traveled to New York City where he stood in a chilly Harlem street as night closed in and pleaded for his supporters to round up prospective nonyoters and get them to the polls.

There are, he warned, past examples of elections that could have changed history if only a handful of voters who stayed at home had made it into the polling booth.

If John Kennedy had lost to Richard Nixon in 1960, Carter shouted into a cheering mostly black crowd that police estimated at 7,000 strong, "we would never have had the Voting Rights Act. None of you would have the freedom you now have."

Later, at a fund-raising dinner, Carter worried that "in the last eight years a lot of people had decided that it is not worth the effort to try to be involved in politics and vote and try to change this country."

And he recalled again the 1960 election in which Kennedy became president by a narrow margin. "If a few people hadn't voted for John Kennedy, we would never have had the Civil Rights Act, our country would have been different."

He also recalled the 1968 election when Richard Nixon narrowly defeated Hubert Humphrey, "The election went the wrong way," he said.

Carter has for several days referred to polls that say more than half the eligible voters may not east ballots. Analysts say many of those who have become discouraged with the election process would be Democratic voters casting ballots to change the faces in Washington if they bothered to vote.

And national polls now show Ford and Carter nearly neckand-neck with the election only two weeks away.

Some analysts say the lower the voter turnout the better chance Ford has of winning the election. But independent candidate Eugene McCarthy says he thinks voter apathy could help his campaign.

McCarthy, in stops in Missouri, said his campaign will have a better chance with a low turnout and "we think we'll do very well."

Ford received an award on Tuesday from the Amvets in a Rose Garden ceremony. He used the occasion to criticize Carter's proposal to cut from $5 billion to $7 billion from the record Pentagon budget.

its black-hatted "enforcers" and reports of heavy pressure on black shoppers, the latest boycott has been imposed with a minimum of effort.

Three or four pickets take stations north and south of the downtown area. They prop up their placards and sit on chairs in the shade of pecan trees, gossiping, reading newspapers. Nothing more is needed.

They are killing this town," said Waddy Abraham, 65, a grocer. "If you don't have good, prosperous merchants, you don't have no town."

If the judgment stands. Abraham would be due $142,217 in damages — some of it presumably collected from former pickets who, though they have little to lose, had to be included among the defendants to make the suit valid.

"All these defendants. I don't know how they wound up in the case," he said. "We were not out to harm the local folks, we were after the NAACP and the big buys."

So the merchants face a decision whether to pursue a judgment they may have tronble collecting or drop the case and write off extensive losses.

The choice is the latest development in a continuing civil rights drama here in the hill country beside the Mississipi River, where blacks outnumber whites 3-1.

It was here, and in nearby Natchez, that blacks discovered their economic muscle during the turbulent 1960s

They mounted economic boycotts to enforce demands that blacks be addressed Mr. or Mrs., that they be allowed to register to vote, that some of them be admitted to white collar jobs - cashiers, for instance, instead of sweepers.

Julia Jones, a defendant and county circuit clerk for five years, said use of the title Mr. or Mrs. between white and blacks is still a sometime thing. "People can be kind of hateful." she said. "But I thought it would be worse than it was.

The Buried Bricklin Case

MADISON HEIGHTS, Mich. (AP) - In what has come to be known as the case of the buried Bricklin, a Madison Heights couple has been charged with "stealing" their own car so they could collect $9.500 in insurance money. Birmingham-Bloomfield District Court Judge Carl Ingraham ordered Richard and Carol Skeen to stand trial in Oakland County Circuit Court on a charge of taking money under false pretenses. The car in question, a limegreen 1975 Bricklin, was found in late August boried in a shallow, plastic-lined, Styrofoam-packed pit on farm property owned by Mrs. Skeen's family, On April 19, Skeen had reported the car's their to Madison Heights police. On May 19, Skeen's insurance company paid the couple $9,500 for the loss of the vehicle. According to testimony, the Skeens used more than $7,200 to pay off a bank loan for the ear's purchase, and allegedly pocketed the

'Master Motorcycle Mechanic'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) - Michigan's first certification test for 'master motorcycle mechanics' will be offered Dec. 11, according to the secretary of state's office. The certification program is vuluntary, pending a final court ruling on the status of Michigan's new motor vehicle service and repair law. Under the act - if it is upheld --- all mutorcycle repair shops would be required to employ at least one certified cycle mechanic by Jan. 1, 1978, and every cycle mechanic would need certification by Jan. 1, 1981. An Ingham County Circuit Court judge upheld the provisions for licensing of repair shops and certification of mechanics last week when he struck down several other sections as unconstitutional. The decision is expected to be appealed, Secretary of State Richard Austin said the exam will be given at 24 different loca-

'Practically Unenforceable'

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — The state labor director says the criminal penalty section of Michigan's two-year-old safety law is practically unenforceable and should either be fixed or scrapped Labor Director Keith Molin told the state Building and Construction Trades Council that the state has tried unsuccessfully to charge six employers under the law, which provides lines or imprisonment for safety act violations, "Nobody yet has gone to jail or paid a criminal line, and it may well be that nobody ever will unless the law is changed," he said. The Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Act, enacted two years ago, provides for a one-year jail sentence and a $10,000 fine for an employer whose willful violation of safety laws causes a worker's death. Molin urged legislators to come up with a workable definition of a "willful" violation and to grant authority for the state attorney general, instead of county prosecutors, to issue criminal warrants.

MEA Fights Proposal C

LANSING, Mich. (AP) -- The Michigan Education Association, the state's largest teachers union, says it has spent close to $150,000 to help try and defeat a ballot proposal that would limit state spending and taxing, MEA Executive Director Herman Coleman said the money was contributed to the Coalition Against Proposal C because of fears the ballot measure could damage educational quality by reducing state school aid, forcing districts to seek unpopular property tax increases. Coleman said one study showed if Proposal C had been in effect this year - limiting state spending to 8.3 per cent of the previous year's personal income — government services would have been cut by $155 million. He said if the legislature had to cut state spending, education would be hit because legislaturs can "soothe their consciences" by assunning the slack can be picked up in higher property taxes. MEA contribution to the coalition came out of dues paid by the organization's 85,000 members.

Ship, Ferry Collide; Four Dead, 50 Missing

LULING, La. (AP) — Four people were killed and 50 were reported missing today after a cargo ship crashed broadside into a fully loaded Mississippi River ferry, the St. Charles Parish Sheriff's office said.

"The ferry was reported to have a full load of approximately 20 cars with an unknown number of occupants and aproximately 50 walk-on passengers, although the exact number of persons involved is unknown:" said Jim Morrison. a U.S. Cost Guard spokesman.

One reporter on the scene said four bodies had been located. A sister ferry rushed back to the sinking vessel and rescued several persons from about 100 yards out in the swift running

The stricken ferry, on a rushhour run between Destrehan and Luling about 20 miles upriver from New Orleans, was upended in the water and sank in about 15 minutes. The cargo ship went upriver and anchored.

"We saw a cargo ship moving up river, approaching the ferry," said Jerry Mayo, a worker on the rescue ferry. "It blew its born four or five times.

"The ship hit the terry broadside, ran completely over it. he said. Mayo said the cargo ship pushed the ferry upriver and finally turned it over.

The Coast Guard said the accident happened shortly before 6:30 a.m. CDT as the sun was coming up. There was no fog, its black-hatted "enforcers" and reports of heavy pressure on black shoppers, the latest boycott has been imposed with a minimum of effort.

Three or four pickets take stations north and south of the downtown area. They prop up their placards and sit on chairs in the shade of pecan trees, gossiping, reading newspapers. Nothing more is needed.

"They are killing this town," said Waddy Abraham, 65, a grocer. "If you don't have good, prosperous merchants, you don't have no town.

If the judgment stands, Abraham would be due $142,217 in damages - some of it presumably collected from former pickets who, though they have little to lose, had to be included among the defendants to make the suit valid.

"All these defendants, I don't know how they wound up in the case," he said. "We were not out to harm the local folks, we were after the NAACP and the big boys.

So the merchants face a decision whether to pursue a judgment they may have trouble collecting or drop the case and write off extensive losses.

CONTRACTOR OF THE PROPERTY OF

The choice is the latest development in a continuing civil rights drama here in the hill country beside the Mississipi River, where blacks outnumber whites 3-1.

It was here, and in nearby Natchez, that blacks discovered their economic muscle during the turbulent 1960s.

They mounted economic boycotts to enforce demands that blacks be addressed Mr. or Mrs., that they be allowed to register to vote, that some of them be admitted to white collar jobs - cashiers, for instance, instead of sweepers.

Julia Jones, a defendant and county circuit clerk for five years, said use of the title Mr. or Mrs. between white and blacks is still a sometime thing. "People can be kind of hateful," she said. "But I thought it would be worse than it was."

But voter registration undoubtedly had its effect, with blacks holding almost all elected positions in Claiborne County.

The Buried Bricklin Case

MADISON HEIGHTS, Mich. (AP) - In what has come to be known as the case of the buried Bricklin, a Madison Heights couple has been charged with "stealing" their own car so they could collect $9,500 in insurance money. Birmingham-Bloomfield District Court Judge Carl Ingraham ordered Richard and Carol Skeen to stand trial in Oakland County Circuit Court on a charge of taking money under false pretenses. The car in question, a limegreen 1975 Bricklin, was found in late August buried in a shallow, plastic-lined, Styrofoam-packed pit on farm property owned by Mrs. Skeen's family. On April 19, Skeen had reported the car's theft to Madison Heights police. On May 19, Skeen's insurance company paid the couple $9,500 for the loss of the vehicle. According to testimony, the Skeens used more than $7,200 to pay off a bank loan for the car's purchase, and allegedly pocketed the

'Master Motorcycle Mechanic'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) - Michigan's first certification test for "master motorcycle mechanics" will be offered Dec. 11, according to the secretary of state's office. The certification program is voluntary, pending a final court ruling on the status of Michigan's new motor vehicle service and repair law. Under the act - if it is upheld — all motorcycle repair shops would be required to employ at least one certified cycle mechanic by Jan. 1, 1978, and every cycle mechanic would need certification by Jan. 1, 1981. An Ingham County Circuit Court judge upheld the provisions for licensing of repair shops and certification of mechanics last week when he struck down several other sections as unconstitutional. The decision is expected to be appealed. Secretary of State Richard Austin said the exam will be given at 24 different locations around Michigan.

'Practically Unenforceable'

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) - The state labor director says the criminal penalty section of Michigan's two-year-old safety law is practically unenforceable and should either be fixed or scrapped. Labor Director Keith Molin told the state Building and Construction Trades Council that the state has tried unsuccessfully to charge six employers under the law, which provides fines or imprisonment for safety act violations. "Nobody yet has gone to jail or paid a criminal fine, and it may well be that nobody ever will unless the law is changed," he said. The Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Act, enacted two years ago, provides for a one-year jail sentence and a $10,000 fine for an employer whose willful violation of safety laws causes a worker's death. Molin urged legislators to come up with a workable definition of a "willful" violation and to grant authority for the state attorney general, instead of county prosecutors, to issue criminal warrants.

MEA Fights Proposal C

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Education Association, the state's largest teachers union, says it has spent close to $150,000 to help try and defeat a ballot proposal that would limit state spending and taxing. MEA Executive Director Herman Coleman said the money was contributed to the Coalition Against Proposal C because of fears the ballot measure could damage educational quality by reducing state school aid, forcing districts to seek unpopular property tax increases. Coleman said one study showed if Proposal C had been in effect this year - limiting state spending to 8.3 per cent of the previous year's personal income government services would have been cut by $155 million. He said if the legislature had to cut state spending, education would be hit hardest because legislators can "soothe their consciences" by assuming the slack can be picked up in higher property taxes. The MEA contribution to the coalition came out of dues paid by the organization's 85,000 members.

Several counties have prohibited Sunday hunting entirely, even on a hunter's own property.

Fighting Over Sewer Rates

LANSING, Mich. (AP) - Three Oakland County sewage disposal districts are going to the state Court of Appeals to dispute sewer rates charged them by the City of Detroit. The appeal follows a ruling by Iosco County Circuit Court Judge Allan Miller. last month allowing the city to impose higher rates on suburban sewage districts. Oakland County Drain Commissioner George Kuhn has retained a Lansing law firm to handle the appeal. The suit alleges the sewage rates are discriminatory because they charge a higher sewage treatment rate to suburban customers than to customers inside the City of Detroit

Ship, Ferry Collide; Four Dead, 50 Missing

LULING, La. (AP) - Four people were killed and 50 were reported missing today after a cargo ship crashed broadside into a fully loaded Mississippi River ferry, the St. Charles Parish Sheriff's office said.

"The ferry was reported to have a full load of approximately 20 cars with an unknown number of occupants and aproximately 50 walk-on passengers, although the exact number of persons involved is unknown," said Jim Morrison, a U.S. Cost Guard spokesman. One reporter on the scene said four bodies had been located. A sister ferry rushed back to the sinking vessel and rescued

several persons from about 100

yards out in the swift running

The stricken ferry, on a rushhour run between Destrehan and Luling about 20 miles upriver from New Orleans, was upended in the water and sank in about 15 minutes. The cargo ship went upriver and anchored. "We saw a cargo ship moving up river, approaching the ferry," said Jerry Mayo, a worker on the rescue ferry. "It blew its horn four or five times. "The ship hit the ferry

broadside, ran completely over it." he said Mayo said the cargo ship pushed the ferry upriver and finally turned it over.

The Coast Guard said the accident happened shortly before 6:30 a.m. CDT as the sun was coming up. There was no fog.

The decision to half authorization of charges does not mean that possession of a police radar detector in a vehicle is suddenly legal in Berrien county, said Smietanka.

However, Smietanka said he will not authorize any more charges for possession of radar detectors between now and final disposition of the test case. Even if he gets a favorable ruling from the courts, the prosecutor said he won't authorize any ticket issued during the moratorium Raymond V. Hill, 44, of 1004 Vineland road, St. Joseph township, said he volunteered to be the defendant in the test case.

Hill stood mute on arraignment yesterday and an innocent plea was entered for him.

Although he faces maximum sentence of one year in the county jail and fines and costs of $1,000, he volunteered to place himself in jeopardy because I think the law is unconstitutional," he said.

DETROIT (AP) — An extramarital affair which Democratic Congressman Donald Riegle Jr. admitted having with an unpaid female staffer in 1969 dominated a Michigan Senate race debate Tuesday.

Republican candidate Rep. Marvin Esch reiterated his denial that he had anything to do with publicizing the story and called instead for a debate on campaign issues.

Riegle centered his wrath on a copyrighted story in the Detroit News on Sunday which alleged that Riegle had an affair seven years ago with a woman who was a volunteer worker in his Washington office.

Riegle confirmed the affair on Monday, saying, "The brief personal relationship that was referred to in the Detroit News was a foolish mistake and a Riegle accused Esch of taking credit for legislative accomplishments with which he had no part.

Riegle also criticized Esch television commercials in which Riegle was described as having voted 18 times against measures which would curb bissing students.

Riegle insisted he was not pro-busing but said he felt instead that public funds should be used for quality education, rather than busing.

Mrs. Janis Sanders' foster mother testified Tuesday in Berrien Pitth District court that Gerald Libertowski had once threatened to shoot her daughter because she was planning to move out of the apartment she and Libertowski shared.

The testimony by Mrs. Joanne McCauley came during the opening day of Libertowski's scheduled four-day preliminary examination. He is charged with murder in connection with Mrs. Sanders' disappearance July 21, 1975.

Libertowski, 34, of South Bend, was acquitted in August in South Bend of a charge of murdering Janeice Langs, 21, also of South Bend, and early this month was extradited to Berrien county to face the murder charge here. Both women had at one time lived with Libertowski, witnesses have testified. Both have disappeared and their bodies have never been found.

Mrs. McCauley, who said that Mrs. Sanders is her husband's cousin and she had raised Mrs. Sanders since she was 12 years old, testified that during a conversation her foster daughter told her that Libertowski threatened to shoot her because she told him she was going to leave him.

"She told me he pulled out a gun and threatened to shoot himself and then said, 'No. Why should I shoot myself. I'll shoot court appointed defense attorneys David Peterson and Stanley White, Mrs. McCauley related a number of conversations in which Mrs. Sanders told her she was very unhappy living with Libertowski and she wanted to leave. The two had lived together for a year and a half following Mrs. Sanders' divorce, according to testimony.

Mrs. Sanders had complained that Libertowski never treated her two children right and that he never made good his promise to marry her, Mrs.McCauley said.

Mrs. McCauley testified that when Mrs. Sanders finally moved back home on the 18th of July, three days before the warrant says Libertowski murdered her, Mrs. Sanders told her that, "She was glad to get out of the hell she was living in with Libertowski" and she "never really knew how crazy he was" until she was ready to move out.

When Libertowski helped Mrs. Sanders move back to her foster parents' home on the 18th, Mrs. McCauley said he broke down in tears and said he wanted to have ber back.

Two other witnesses, both former co-workers of Mrs. Sanders at Pete's Patio, a lounge and restaurant in Niles, testified that July 20th, the night before Mrs. Sanders disappeared, Libertowski came to visit her at the restaurant and left immediately after her.

Both co-workers — Brenda McMillen and Marjorie Stenberg, said that they saw Libertowski in the har and that he jumped up numerous times times from the bar and watched Mrs. Sanders' activities while she worked.

Both women were shown a photograph of Libertowski with bruises on his face taken by police when they questioned him following her disappearance. Both women said that when they saw him in the restaurant he didn't have any bruises on his face.

Arab Boycott Stirring Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) - The controversy over American firms' participation in the Arab boycott of Israel is turning into a debate about just what constitutes participation.

The Commerce Department says a company that supplies requested data to an Arab state is complying with the boycott. The companies disagree: many say they have always traded with both Arabs and Israelis and plan to continue doing so.

More voices were to be added to the debate today. A House subcommittee arranged to question Secretary of Commerce Elliot Richardson about Tegislation the boyeott and U.S. govern-

By AZIZ SHIHAB
SAN ANTONIO (NEA) — The
word Tejas (new Texas) is the Spanish rendition of the Hasinai word for friend, with which the first European visitors to the Indian tribes in Texas were greefed.

The Tejas Indians were a group of Caddoan tribes who lived in East Texas in the area of the Trinity and Angelina rivers, They were known to the French and Spaniards who came to Texas as Hasinai.

the 17th Century, the Spanish had a preconceived notion of a "great kingdom of the Tejas." So, when the Europeans arrived in Texas, led by Damian Massanet and Alonso de Leon, they heard the term used by the Hasinai (who were identifying the names of their tribes), the Europeans thought they had reached that kingdom.

Later while Sam Houston was president of the Republic of Texas, it is told that some foreign nation sent an entroy to convince him to sign a treaty.

U.S. Moves To Deport Three Accused War Criminals

By MARGARET GENTRY Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nightmare of wartime Europe will be relived in three U.S. courtrooms next month as federal authorities attempt to deport three aging immigrants accused of atrocities against Jews more than 30 years ago

The hearings before federal immigration judges in New Britain, Conn., Baltimere and New York City will be, in effect, this country's first trials for crimes committed during World

The charges mark a turning point in the government's ef-forts to track down and deport Nazi war criminals living in the United States.

In these cases and others to come, government lawyers are relying on the memories of Jews who watched in horror as their friends and neighbors were beaten and slain by the hundreds in prisons and concentration camps.

About 20 who escaped the persecution and now live in israel will be brought to the United States to testify in the three hearings, said Verne Jervis, spokesman for the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS).

The defendants are Bronius Kaminskas, a 73-year-old Lithuanian who lives alone in a 20-a-week room in Hartford Conn.; Karlis Detlavs, 65, who

There was something about the Ford-Carter confrontation on loreign policy that spooked me, and it has taken a week to figure it out: Gerald Ford simply doesn't listen to what he is saying! This is the only pos-sible explanation for his egregious blunder on Soviet domination of Eastern Europe. And it is in characterological terms very bad news.

When Ford first stated that the USSR does not dominate the satellites. I almost fell off my chair. Because of my deep-rosted opposition to unitateral detente — we give, they take — I had read a speech the President gave on Sept. 24 to the Polish-American Alilance. In it he asserted without reservation that American agreement to the "Final Act" at Helsinki did not amount to a legitimation of the Sovjet sphere of influence in Eastern Europe.

As the question was popped at the debate, the President obviously pushed the button to turn on the Polish-American Alliance tape, but there was an erasure — it jumped the crucial  $% \left( \frac{1}{2}\right) =0$ passage about American rejection of the subordination of the Warsaw Pact states to Moscow.

However, I figured, having fumbled the ball, he would recover it. But instead of recovering the ball, Ford kicked it - and kept kicking it, doggedly insisting that, properly construed, what he said was Correct.

Now it is one thing to be thoroughly briefed and have a mass of material at your fingertips. (Indeed, one could argue that in the first debate Jimmy Carter was overbriefed.) It is something quite different to be programmed like a computer to recite rote responses to stimuli.

Carter, for example, forgot the name of Radio Liberty in discussing Soviet jamming — he mentioned Radio Free Europe, his memory slipped, so he stopped and repeated Radio Free Europe. He was abviously listening to himself and, when he forgot, he knew it and did a simple retrieve.

However, the President's behavior the following day was even more unnerving. If, after seeing the viedo tape, he had called a press conference and said, in effect, "My earlier sta-tements on the subject of the USSR and Eastern Europe make it clear that last night I got momentarily confused and garbled my position," the event would probably have been a three-day wonder. Instead while millions of Americans of Eastern Eruopean background wondered what world he lived in, he kept throwing gasoline on the fire. The Reds can wrap it up tonigit untess Yankee righthander Ed Figueroa or the weather can slow down the careening Big Red Machine. Gary Nolan, also a right-hander, will start for the Reds, bidding since the 1921-22 New York Giants to win the World Series in successive years.

Rain has been forecast for tonight's fourth game. Billy Martin, the Yanks' feisty manager looking for a way to break the Reds' momentum, was asked if a delay might help achieve that end.

"Nah," he replied. "A postponement wouldn't do a thing for us now, it would've helped us before the Series began."

This series would seem to be virtually over. As Thurman Munson, the Yanks' catcher, muttered: "If we've been trying to make them overconfident, we've reached our limit."

When someone pointed out that no team in the previous 72 World Series had come back from a 3-0 deficit, Martin said: "Listen, we're no quitters. I'm not a quitter and my guys aren't quitters. We've come back before and we plan to come back again. We'll be out there fighting all the way. They'll still have to beat us ... But I must admit we're not in a very good position."

What, Zachry was asked, had he thrown to the light-hitting Mason? "A home-run ball," he grinned. "It was a fat fastball right over the plate. The first pitch was a ball and I thought he'd be taking. He took it, all right — right out of the yard."
With Zachry out, Will

SH Grid Machine Productive

By JACK WALKDEN Staff Sports Writer

SOUTH HAVEN - Gary Steudle is building a football machine at South Haven.

And the Rams are churning out yardage and points at an amazing pace.

Switching to the Houston Veer offense, South Haven is averaging 30 points and 394 yards per game this season while posting a 4-1 record. The Rams rank second in the area in scoring and are tops in total offense.

"We switched from the Wing-T to the Veer because it makes more one-on-one situations. Steudle says. "And this year we have the people to take advantage of those situations.

And the one player Steudle counts on in many of those situations is sophomore running back Shelby Gamble. The 5-11, 185-pounder has rushed for 576

Abortion Russians' Primary Form Of Birth Control

Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) - The ros troversy over abortion now raging in the United States finds no echo in the Soviet Union, where thousands of women daily undergo legal hospital abortions. primary form of birth control.

Women here use very few contraceptives, and when they have an unwanted prognancy statistics show, more than half of them go to a hospital or a private doctor for an abortion.

The result is what is accepted as the highest abortion rate in the world, 10 times higher than the United States and five times higher than the second leading nation, Japan.

In the Soviet Union, where abortion is available on demand to any woman over 18, the Population Council estimates that 10 million abortions are performed each year, a rate of 180 per thousand women aged 15 to 44. The council is funded by the United Nations, and by some U.S. government and private

In 1974, according to official statistics, there were 4.5 million births in the Soviet Union - or less than half the number of abortions.

The Population Council says 899,850 abortions were performed in the United States in 1974, for a rate of 19.5 per thousand women.

In Japan, the council says, an estimated 2.2 million abortions are performed each year. No other nation for which the council has statistics reported as many as one million abortions a year.

Soviet women apparently accept the necessity for abortions, despite the harsh, assembly-line atomosphere of hospital abortion wards, and there is virtually no public debate about abortion, although the government often urges women to have big families to boost the Soviet population, now approximately 250 million.

The late dictator Josef Stalin outlawed abortion in 1936 but the then Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev legalized it in 1955, partly because illegal abortions were thriving. When the government talked about banning abortion again in the early 1970s to raise the birth rate, a Moscow physician argued against a ban in terms similar to those voiced by pro-abortion forces in the United States

The teachers, who had been on strike for more than three weeks, were handed an ultimatum by the board of education either return to the classroom or he fired. They voted to return to work, although a contract agreement with the school board has not yet been reached.

Wants His Foe Off Ballot

DETROIT (AP) - A Communist Labor Party candidate for the state legislature has charged his Democratic opponent with fiving outside his district and has asked the courts to remove him from the ballot. General G. Baker Jr., the Communist Labor Party candidate from the 9th District, and four supporters have filed suit in Wayne County Circuit Court to have Rep. George Edwards thrown off the November ballot. Edwards denied the charge, saying he maintains his legal residence in the 9th District. which includes Highland Park and parts of Detroit. Baker and his supporters claim Edwards, a 22-year veteran of the state House. lives at the Detroit Towers, a luxury waterfront apartment building outside the 9th District. They claim Edwards owns a house on Woodland, within the district's boundaries, but does not live there.

Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) - Contract talks at Chrysler Corp. and General Motors continue in subcommittees as the United Auto Workers union delays naming its next strike target until Ford Motor Co. recovers fully from a nationwide walkout.

The union still must negotiate new contracts for 508,000 GM and Chrysler workers based on the pattern set at Ford.

But the UAW has delayed stepped-up talks until new local agreements are reached at a few handful of key Ford plants that remain strikebound after 35

'Some minor progress has been made, but we still have monumental problems to solve," said UAW vice president Douglas Fraser following Tuesday's subcommittee sessions with Chrysler

Fraser said bargainers should be able to settle on a new national accord covering 118,000 workers within six or seven days after a strike deadline is set, adding that the pressure of a deadline appears necessary to spark serious negotiations.

Meanwhile, bargaining on a new contract for 390,000 workers continued at GM, where negotiators also met Tuesday in subcommittee.

OFFERS NEW DRAMATIC WORKS 'Visions' Debuts On Public TV

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Tolevision Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — This

Thursday, a new weekly series of original drama for TV kicks off on public television. It is called "Visions," is produced by KCET here and is intended to:

—Offer far more mental sustenance than, say, "Hawaii Five-0."

-Encourage new dramatic works for TV and give new American playwrights a chance to work in the medium without the pressure of commercial television's constant quest for ratings.

It'll have 13 original dramas and four repeats this season. The premiere show, "Two Brothers," is a study of a mentally ill doctor (David Spielberg) and the inability of his brother (Judd Hirsch of the 'Delvecchio' series) to help him.

The prime mover and artistic director of "Visions" is Barbara Schultz, a former execu-tive producer of "CBS Playhouse" when there was one, and former East Coast program development director for CBS.

She says "Visions" goes back to 1972, when Fred Friendly, TV guru at the Ford Foundation, a major funder of public TV, and officials at the National Endowment for the Arts got to worrying about the paucity of American dramatic works on the American public seemed to them "li everything in drama was com-ing from England," she said. 'And of course, this was true.

The upshot of the worrying was the selection of KCET as producer of a boine-grown dramatic series originally calling for 36 dramas to be made over a three-year period under a $10.2-million budget.

Stop Smoking Sessions To Start Sunday

BERRIEN SPRING -The Five-Day plan to stop smoking will be held in Berrien Springs, Oct. 24-28. Programs will be held nightly from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Community Services center at 840 St. Joseph avenue. A registration fee of $10 will be charged.
Dr. Herald Habenicht, program coordinator and director of the medical center at Andrews univer-sity here, said that "the purpose of the program is to help people stop smoking, especially those who have tried on their own and failed."

Sponsoring the program are the Seventh-day Adventist churches Berrien county.

Baroda Group Seeks To Halt Trailer Park

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON Staff Writer

Five Baroda residents have filed suit in Berrien Circuit court in an attempt to block construction of a mobile home nark in the village

The suit seeks a judgment from the court declaring that the building permit allowing construction is illegal and a writ of mandamus ordering village council members to enforce a local ordinance which the suit within the village.

Plaintiffs in the suit are Samuel Somora, Jr., Edwin Rath, Fred Donnell, Jean Jasper, and Sarah Cox, whom the suit identifies as village residents.

Named defendants in addiion to the village, were Jerry Pliley, council president, coun eil members Ronald Miller, Al Reifschneider, Larry Nye, Henry Reitz, Ron Zordell, Howard Gaul, building inspector Henry Nitz, and Rudi Eichendorff, the developer.

Judge Julian E. Hughes ordered council members to appear at a hearing Nov. 1 and show cause why a writ of mandamus should not be issued. The writ would force the council to enforce a local ordinance and rescind the previously-issued building permit. The proposed trailer park has met with disapproval from a number of Baroda residents, and at the council's Oct. 4 people, asked the council to order construction stopped and schedule a referendum on the desirability of the trailer park.

The building permit was issued Aug. 25 by Nitz with the approval of Pliley after receiving tentative council approval last November, although final approval was not given. The permit went to Eichendorff, of 1889 Lemon Creek road, to build the 71-site park on 28 acres off Stevensville-Baroda road.

An affidavit from Somora, attached to the suit, claims work on the site is continuing and much of the land has been graded, trenches have been dag. and drain pipes are on the premises. The suit claims the building permit is illegal because Eichendorff never received permission from the council to develop and operate the park and because Nitz was without authority to issue the permit. The suit also maintains no permission can be given because a village ordinance "absolutely and unqualifically prohibits the development of, or the maintenance or operation of. trailer or mobile home parks within the village boundaries. The suit additionally contends the council's refusal to rescind the permit "constitutes ar illegal violation of the council members' sworn duties to enforce all laws and ordinances of the village."

Baroda Group Seeks To Halt Trailer Park

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON

Staff Writer Five Baroda residents have filed suit in Berrien Circuit court in an attempt to block construction of a mobile home park in the village. The suit seeks a judgment from the court declaring that the building permit allowing construction is illegal and a writ of mandamus ordering village council members to enforce a local ordinance which, the suit claims, bans mobile home parks within the village.

Plaintiffs in the suit are Samuel Somora, Jr., Edwin Rath, Fred Donnell, Jean Jasper, and Sarah Cox, whom the suit identifies as village meeting a petition, signed by 77 people, asked the council to order construction stopped and schedule a referendum on the desirability of the trailer park. The building permit was issued Aug. 25 by Nitz with the approval of Pliley after receiving tentative council approval last November, although final approval was not given. The permit went to Eichendorff, of 1889 Lemon Creek road, to build the 71-site park on 28 acres off

Stevensville-Baroda road. An affidavit from Somora, at tached to the suit, claims work on the site is continuing and much of the land has been graded, trenches have been dug. and drain pipes are on the premises. The suit claims the building permit is illegal because Eichendorff never received permission from the council to develop and operate the park and because Nitz was without authority to issue the permit. The suit also maintains no permission can be given because a village ordinance 'absolutely and unqualifiedly prohibits the development of, or the maintenance or operation of, trailer or mobile home parks

DETROIT (AP) - A Detroit curfew aimed at stopping gang violence hasn't cut juvenile crime, but has forced the youthful offender to go to work earlier. Despite the new curfew, juvenile crime increased more than 17 per cent in August and September of this year compared to the same period last year, according to Detroit police records. But fewer serious crimes — murder, rape, assault, robbery and burglary — occured during the curfew hours, between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m., the records show. Police statistics show more than 700 serious juvenile felimies were committed during August and September, but only 17 per cent of them were committed during curfew hours. Lesser juvenile crimes - possession of stolen property, vandalism, and carrying a concealed weapon — have increased 47 per cent in the past two months compared to last year.

Criminal Clockwatchers

DETROIT (AP) - A Detroit curfew aimed at stopping gang violence hasn't cut juvenile crime, but has forced the youthful offender to go to work earlier. Despite the new curfew, juvenile crime increased more than 17 per cent in August and September of this year compared to the same period last year, according to Detroit police records. But fewer serious crimes - murder, rape, assault, robbery and burglary - occured during the curfew hours, between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m., the records show. Police statistics show more than 700 serious juvenile felonies were committed during August and September, but only 17 per cent of them were committed during curfew hours. Lesser juvenile crimes - possession of stolen property, vandalism, and carrying a concealed weapon - have increased 47 per cent in the past two months compared to last year

Two Area Students On Newspaper Staff

MT. PLEASANT - Two Southwestern Michigan students were department heads for Central Michigan Life when the student newspaper won its eighth straight "All-American" ranking from the Associated Collegiate Press (ACP), according to Central Michigan university. The two area students on the staff and their positions were Denise Kalin, St. Joseph, one of three copy editors, and Ron Kirkwood, Dowagiac, sports editor. The "All-American" designation, the highest given by the ACP, covered issues published last spring semester by Central Michigan Life, CMU's three-times-weekly student paper. In the ACP competition, Life competes against paperspublished three times a week or more.

Michigan Jobless Tax In Trouble

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan will face federal penalties unless the state's unemployment compensation business tax is rapidly revised according to the head of the Michigan Employment Security

MESC Director S. Martin Taylor said Tuesday that Michigan employers now owe the federal government $571 million in unemployment payments, and the debt will reach about $640 million by the

Unless the state makes progress wiping out that debt, he said, Washington will start imposing a yearly tax increase to get its money back - probably by 1980.

In the past three years, the state has erased a $600 million balance in its unemployment trust fund and horrowed $600 million more from the federal government to pay swollen ranks of jobless residents.
Unemployment benefits are funded by a tax on business, with higher rates levied on companies with a history of heavy layoffs. The federal government also levies its own

Unless the state enacts new employer taxes to pay off the federal debt, Washington will automatically raise its assessments by 3 per cent each year until the federal government gets its money back, Taylor

Taylor made his comments at a meeting on a proposal to restructure Michigan's unemployment tax on business. Legislative leaders and government officials also heard from an actuarial consulting firm which has drafted a tax increase proposal.

Revision of the state's unemployment tax structure is expected to be a major legislative goal next year.

Taylor said the state is urging

Washington to take two actions: to pay the cost of supplemental unemployment benefits from the federal fund instead of taxing employers; and to provide a 10-year deferral of debt repayment.

Even with federal action, Taylor said, the state program needs to be revised. There must be new formula, he said, to provide enough money, to shift with economic ups and downs, and to spread the tax burden

The consulting firm has proposed raising taxes to employers and restructuring them so they fluctuate to meet demands of jobless benefits.

The current tax assesses companies from 0.8 to 6.6 per cent of the first $5,400 in wages earned by each employe. Under the proposal, the scale would range from 0.1 per cent to 8.4

SALE OF HOME AFTER 65

If you are 65 or over and expect to sell your home soon at a profit, you will get a new tax break under the '76 Tax Reform Act — if you can hold off on selling until '77. If you don't intend to re-invest your sales proceeds in buying a new residence - as so many 65-or-over individuals don't — the portion of your profit allocable to $20,000 of your sales price will be exempt from tax if you sell in '76. Under the new law, beginning in 1977, the exemption figure will be raised from $20,000 to $35,000.

Here's what this means to vou. Say you are 65 or over and own a house which cost you $20,000. Say you can now sell it for $70,000 — a $50,000 profit. If you make the sale in '76, you would be exempt from tax on $20,000/$70,000 of the $50,000 profit, or $14,386. You would therefore pay a capital gains tax on $35,714 ($50,000 minus

But if you postpone your sale until '77, then under the new law you will be exempt from tax on $35,000/$70,000 of your profit of $50,000, or $25,000. Then your taxable gain next year would be only $25,000 ($50,000 minus $25,000), instead of the $35,714 if you sell in 1976. White the longterm capital gains holding period will go up from six months in '76 to nine months in '77, Leon Gold, chief tax expert of the Research Institute of America, says "that's no problem," because you already must have used the munify hospital during the past 24 hours include: hours include: hours include: hours include: hours as your principal residence for at least five years Benton Harbor - Chiquita in order to qualify for the exemptions. Another tax break of a different nature that you who Hartford - Elizabeth Latus, are 65 or over will get under the '76 Tax Reform Act is a simplification of the complicated full-page Schedule R which in previous years you have been required to file to qualify for the 15 per cent retirement income credit. And not only has the 76. law changed the credit so that it will be computed with a simpler schedule. It also has made the credit somewhat more generous for lower bracket individuals. Whether you personally qualify for any amount of re-tirement credit under the new rules, though, still depends primarily on two factors; how much income you have, and how much you receive in Social Security benefits.

No longer will you have to nowe that you carned at least $600 a year for 10 years in order to malify, and no longer will you have to identify the different types of income you received. All you need do is fill in certain figures on Schedule amounts for which you can claim the 15 per cent credit:

> maximum amount for credit computation is: $2,500; If you are married filing jointly and only one spouse is 65

If you are single, your or over, your maximum is

If you are married filing jointly, both 65 or over, your maximum is $3.750:

If you are married filing a separate return and 65 or over. your maximum is $1,879.

If you are 65 or over, a quick check of the above figures will check of the above figures will show whether you will get any credit by filling out the schedule. Don't bother to complete the schedule if either your Social Security benefits or your wife's benefits during the year equal or exceed the figure next to the category into which you fit.

For instance, if you are single and have received $2,500 or Social Security payments in '76, you can't get any credit. If you are married. filing jointly and both over 65. Social Security payments of $3,750 for both of you will bar any credit. Even if your Social Security is less than these maximum figures, you won't get any credit if your adjusted gross income for '76 is over $17,500. That's because one-half of the excess of adjusted gross income over $10,000 wines out an equivalent amount of credit.

If wither the amount of your Social Security payments nor your adjusted gross income will bar a credit, be sure to fill out Schedule R TO CUT YOUR TAXES BY THE RE-TAXES BY THE RETIREMENT INCOME CREDIT.

The credit still will be available for certain government worker retirees under 65. but under a different computation.

Oil Hike Could Trigger Defaults

By JOHN CUNNIFF

AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — If petroleum exporters raise prices again in December, as many oil analysts believe they will, it is likely to fuel once again those fears of widespread third-world defaults on loans.

Billions of dollars in loans — more than $40 billion by reliable estimates - have been made to less developed nations by U.S. commercial banks. Higher oil prices would make repayment of these hears more difficult. "Scaremongers," as Cittbank calls them, have been measuring these loans against the ob vious weaknesses in the conomies of the less developed nations, and have been suggest ing the possibility of massive defaults.

Lenders, and the U.S. Government too, have tended to view the situation more optimistically, at least for the record, but optimism alone might not be sufficient to over come problems.

Indications now are that a petroleum price rise would badly damage the payments balances of less developed nations that export no oil, and might force them to seek relief from their financial obligations.

If defaults do occur, the question facing authorities here is how to protect the banks involved and limit the impact on the U.S. economy, which itself is likely to be hurt by any price increase from the OPEC na-

As early as this summer Citibank attempted, as it said. "notting the souelch up the scaretalk," which it said has "posited a domino effect ending in financial collapse."

At that time it said the likelihood of a massive rescheduling of repayments was very small, but that even if it happened "it would do no more to trigger another worldwide depression than did the shock of the eil embarge and ensuing price hikes."

Citibank, which is among the American bank lenders to the less developed nations, main tains that monetary institutions erected since the 1930s should adequately absorb whatever shock waves might develop.

"Central banks would respond to the shock of foreigndebt defaults by increasing the reserves of private banks, just as they have when confronted with defaults on domestic debts," it stated.

The bank, second largest commercial institution of its type in the country, maintains that even the threat of very painful though not necessarily fatal defaults on a less than catastrophic scale are unlikely.

Most of the loans, it points out, are extended to governments and quasi-government agencies, "and governments, unlike private business enterprises, are not dissolved when their financial obligations resources." financial

Those nations that have been extended loans, it continues, are among those with the most favorable growth rates, and are by definition those most determined to protect their credit

Credit is too vital to the development of these nations, it argues, for them to permit serious defaults. In any event, the amount of money involved isn't great. Citibank claims. "To be sure, the level of bank loans to the LDCs is high, but those been are a very small proportion of total bank assets. It cites Federal Reserve figures showing that the six largest U.S. banks at the end of 1975 had about $12 billion in loans outstanding to 15 less

Michigan Jobless Tax In Trouble

LANSING, Mich. (AP) -Michigan will face federal penalties unless the state's unemployment compensation business tax is rapidly revised. according to the head of the Michigan Employment Security Commission

MESC Director S. Martin Taylor said Tuesday that Michigan employers now owe the federal government $571 million in unemployment payments, and the debt will reach about $640 million by the end of 1977.

Unless the state makes progress wiping out that debt. he said, Washington will start imposing a yearly tax increase to get its money back - probably by 1980.

In the past three years, the state has erased a $600 million balance in its unemployment trust fund and borrowed $600 million more from the federal government to pay swollen ranks of jobless residents.

Unemployment benefits are funded by a tax on business, with higher rates levied on companies with a history of heavy layoffs. The federal government also levies its own

Unless the state enacts new employer taxes to pay off the federal debt, Washington will automatically raise its assessments by .3 per cent each year until the federal government gets its money back, Taylor said.

Taylor made his comments at a meeting on a proposal to restructure Michigan's unemployment tax on business. Legislative leaders and government officials also heard from an actuarial consulting firm which has drafted a tax increase proposal.

Revision of the state's unemployment tax structure is expected to be a major legislative goal next year.

Taylor said the state is urging Washington to take two a to pay the cost of supplemental unemployment benefits from the federal fund instead of taxing employers; and to provide a 10-year deferral of debt repayment.

Even with federal action, Taylor said, the state program needs to be revised. There must be new formula, he said, to provide enough money, to shift with economic ups and downs. and to spread the tax burden

The consulting firm has proposed raising taxes to employers and restructuring them so they fluctuate to meet demands of jobless benefits.

The current tax assesses companies from 0.8 to 6.6 per cent of the first $5,400 in wages earned by each employe. Under the proposal, the scale would range from 0.1 per cent to 8.4

SALE OF HOME AFTER 65

If you are 65 or over and expect to sell your home soon at a profit, you will get a new tax break under 76 Tax Reform Act - if you can hold off on selling until '77. If you don't intend to re-invest your sales proceeds in buying a new residence - as so many 65-or-over individuals don't - the portion of your profit allocable to $20,000 of your sales price will be exempt from tax if you sell in '76. Under the new law, beginning in 1977, the exemption figure will be raised from $20,000 to $35,000.

Here's what this means to you. Say you are 65 or over and own a house which cost you $20,000. Say you can now sell it for $70,000 — a $50,000 profit. If you make the sale in '76, you would be exempt from tax on $20,000/$70,000 of the $50,000 profit, or $14,286. You would therefore pay a capital gains tax on $35,714 ($50,000 minus

But if you postpone your sale until '77, then under the new law you will be exempt from tax on $35,000/$70,000 of your profit of $50,000, or $25,000. Then your taxable gain next year would be only $25,000 ($50,000 minus $25,000), instead of the $35,714 if you sell in 1976. While the longterm capital gains holding period will go up from six months in '76 to nine months in '77, Leon Gold, chief tax expert of the Research Institute of America, says "that's no problem," because you already must have used the as your principal residence for at least five years in order to qualify for the exemptions Another tax break of a different nature that you who are 65 or over will get under the '76 Tax Reform Act is a simplification of the complicated full-page Schedule R which in previous years you have been required to file to qualify for the 15 per cent retirement income credit. And not only has the '76 law changed the credit so that it will be computed with a simpler schedule. It also has made the credit somewhat more generous

for lower bracket individuals. Whether you personally qualify for any amount of retirement credit under the new rules, though, still depends primarily on two factors: how much income you have, and how much you receive in Social Security benefits. No longer will you have to prove that you earned at least $600 a year for 10 years in order to qualify, and no longer will you have to identify the different types of income you received. All you need do is fill in certain figures on Schedule amounts for which you can claim the 15 per cent credit: If you are single, your maximum amount for credit computation is: $2,500; If you are married filing jointly and only one spouse is 65 or over, your maximum is

$2,500: If you are married filing jointly, both 65 or over, your maximum is $3,750; If you are married filing a separate return and 65 or over, your maximum is $1,875.

If you are 65 or over, a quick check of the above figures will show whether you will get any credit by filling out the Don't bother to schedule. complete the schedule if either your Social Security benefits or your wife's benefits during the year equal or exceed the figure next to the category into which

For instance, if you are single and have received $2,500 or more in Social Security payments in '76, you can't get any credit. If you are married, filing jointly and both over 65, Social Security payments of $3,750 for both of you will bar any credit. Even if your Social Security is less than these maximum figures, you won't get any credit if your adjusted gross income for '76 is over $17,500. That's because one-half of the excess of adjusted gross income over $10,000 wipes out an equivalent amount of credit.

If neither the amount of your Social Security payments nor your adjusted gross income will bar a credit, be sure to fill out Schedule R TO CUT YOUR TAXES BY THE RE-TIREMENT INCOME CREDIT.

The credit still will be available for certain government worker retirees under 65, but under a different computation.

Oil Hike Could Trigger Defaults

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP' - If petroleum exporters raise prices again in December, as many oil analysts believe they will, it is likely to fuel once again those fears of widespread third-world defaults on loans.

Billions of dollars in loans more than $40 billion by reliable estimates - have been made to less developed nations by U.S. commercial banks. Higher oil prices would make repayment of these loans more difficult.

'Scaremongers." as Citibank calls them, have been measuring these loans against the obvious weaknesses in the economies of the less developed nations, and have been suggesting the possibility of massive defaults.

Lenders, and the U.S. Government too, have tended to view the situation more optimistically, at least for the record, but optimism alone might not be sufficient to overcome problems.

Indications now are that a petroleum price rise would badly damage the payments balances of less developed nations that export no oil, and might force them to seek relief from their financial obligations

If defaults do occur, the question facing authorities here is how to protect the banks involved and limit the impact on the U.S. economy, which itself is likely to be hurt by any price increase from the OPEC na-

As early as this summer, Citibank attempted, as it said. 'putting the squelch on the scaretalk," which it said has 'posited a domino effect ending in financial collapse.

At that time it said the likelihood of a massive rescheduling of repayments was very small, but that even if it happened "it would do no more to trigger another worldwide depression than did the shock of the oil embargo and ensuing price hikes.

Citibank, which is among the American bank lenders to the less developed nations, maintains that monetary institutions erected since the 1930s should adequately absorb whatever shock waves might develop.

"Central banks would respond to the shock of foreigndebt defaults by increasing the reserves of private banks, just as they have when confronted with defaults on domestic ' it stated. The bank, second largest commercial institution of its type in the country, maintains that even the threat of very painful though not necessarily fatal defaults on a less than catastrophic scale are unlikely.

Most of the loans, it points out, are extended to governments and quasi-government agencies, "and governments. unlike private business enterprises, are not dissolved when their financial obligations exceed their financial resources

Those nations that have been extended loans, it continues, are among those with the most favorable growth rates, and are 'by definition those most determined to protect their credit ratings

Credit is too vital to the development of these nations, it argues, for them to permit serious defaults

In any event, the amount of money involved isn't great, Citibank claims. "To be sure, the level of bank loans to the LDCs is high, but those loans are a very small proportion of total bank assets

It cites Federal Reserve figures showing that the six largest U.S. banks at the end of 1975 had about $12 billion in loans outstanding to 15 less developed nations which weren't guaranteed by the U.S. government or U.S. firms.

Nevertheless, say 'scaremongers," the already weak economies of the borrowing nations would be devastated by higher oil prices. This, they argue, might rekindle smoldering rancor and encourage borrowers to default as a moral right.

TOLEDO (AP) - David Washington heard a cold front was headed for the Toledo area, so he decided to take a Greyhound bus to the sunny south Tuesday.

Unfortunately, the 21-year-old Didn't wait around for the bus driver, and he ended up arrested by Ohio Highway patrolmen on charges of possessing stolen property - the bus.

Troopers said Washington had been drinking when he hopped into an empty 37-passenger Greyhound parked behind the Toledo bus terminal early Tuesday morning, and drove southward on U.S. Highway 23.

The bus driver reported the theft after he walked out to warm up the vehicle and found it wasn't there

Washington was apprehended by troopers some three hours later on US-23 east of Bowling Green. He was taken to the Wood County Jail, where a sheriff's deputy said he went to sleep, later waking to express regret over the incident.

Troopers said Washington told them he took the bus after hearing a weather forecast of 36-degree temperatures for the Toledo area.

Millage Renewal Gets Nod

CHEBOYGAN, Mich. (AP) - Cheboygan School district voters have approved an 11-mill renewal for school operations by a vote of 2.973 to 876. The proposal was defeated twice earlier this year and school officials said they would have to eliminate transportation, athletics and hot lunches if it were defeated again. Teacher and staff layoffs and the closing of four of the district's six school buildings also were threatened. A 1-mill proposal for operations was sent down to defeat, 2,129 to 1,689.

Arrests May End Niles Theft String

By JOHN DYE South Berrien Bureau

NILES - William Weaver, Niles city police patrolman, said yesterday that with the arrest of three people they believe they have cleared up 32 recent break-ins of businesses and thefts from autos in Berrien county and nearby St. Joseph county, Ind.

Weaver, on assignment with the department's detective bureau, said a variety of items ranging from auto parts, tools, radios and a bicycle, estimated at "several thousand" dollars in value, have been confiscated and are believed to have been taken in the break-ins.

BH Man Convicted On Two Pot Counts

A Berrien Circuit court jury deliberated eight minutes Tuesday before convicting a Benton Harbor man of possession of marijuana, and then deliberated another four minutes to convict him of possession of marijuana second offense. Jurors in Judge William S. White's court returned the guilty verdicts against s street, who remained free on $1,000 personal recognizance bond to await sentencing of up to two years in prison. He was accused of possessing marijuana April 18 in Benton township, and testimony showed he was convicted of the same offense in Berrien District court in October, 1979. Opposing counsel in the one-day trial were Special Assistant Prosecutor Robert McDowell and Benton Harbor Atty. Yvonne Hughes.

Robbery Conviction Reduced By Court

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON

The Michigan Court of Appeals has reversed the armed robbery conviction of a former Benton Harbor man and or-dered that he be declared guilty in circuit court of плагтей горьегу.

Vernon Williams, 20, was convicted by a jury in Berrien Circuit court of armed robbery sentenced by Judge William S. White to 10 to 20 years in prison in 1974. Williams was charged with robbing Bertha Williams (no relation), then 79, of about $100 and a radio while threatening her with a hammer at her home, 337 Columbus avenue, Benton Harbor.

Witnesses during the trial differed in their accounts of whether a hammer was used during the offense. The appeals court, in reversing the armed robbery conviction, ruled that it is improper for the prosecution to impeach the testimony of an accomplice, because the prosecution is not obligated to eall an accomplice to the witness stand as a prosecution

Williams could receive the same prison sentence when sentenced for unarmed robbery, however, because the maximum for unarmed robbery - up to life imprisonment - is the same as for armed robbery.

Watervliet City Okays Rate Hike For Cable TV

WATERVLIET - A proposed board was first to approve the 25 per cent rate increase for ca- request in August. Coloma city ble television users in the Watervliet-Coloma area cleared its second hurdle last night.

The Watervliet city commission voted to allow the monthly rate for users to be increased from $5.95 to $7.50, provided that the other three local governmental units in the area also approve the request.

Chicagoan Guilty Of Conspiracy

A Chicago man originally charged with receiving and concealing stolen property pleaded guilty yesterday in Berrien Circuit court to a lesser charge of conspiracy to commit larceny under $100.

Pleading guilty before Judge Julian Hughes was Marcus A. Fisher, 33, who was continued on $1,000 personal recognizance bond to await a sentence of up to one year in jail.

He was charged with conspiring in St. Joseph on March 31 to steal four men's suits.

Official Quitting

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) - C Thomas Burke has submitted his resignation as executive director of the Seaway Port Authority of Duluth, but declined to discuss details of his resignation.

and township officials are expected to act on the request later this month.

The rate hike is sought by the Paw Paw Lake Cable TV Co., which provides the service. Its manager, Paul Legris, told Watervliet commissioners the firm is now operating in the red. The new rate would not go into effect until all four local governmental units approve it and it would not be retroactive. The special commission meeting last night was called to act on the rate hike request.

In other areas, commissioners agreed to study a request that the monthly $150 rental fee be reduced for housing the Watervliet ambulance in the city garage.

The request was made by William Fizzell, chairman of the joint city and township ambulance board.

Commissioner Albert Steffens reported a $10,500 grant had been received from the state which is to be used toward the purchase of a new, fullyequipped ambulance.

Commissioners tabled action on two bids for a proposed project calling for the installation of 200 feet of water line and a hydrant on Baldwin avenue. The lower bid was from Henry Compton, South Haven, at $4,890. Yerington & Harris. Benton Harbor, submitted a bid of $5,280.

It was reported that the new water tank did not pass a chlorination test. A new sample has been taken and will be sent to the state board of health.

If that sample does not pass 150,000-gallon tank will have to be drained and refilled

Proposal C could simply be the transfer of costs from the State level to the local property tax. There is nothing in C to prevent continued increases in costs of those programs such as nursing home and medical care that have been major contributors to recent State budget increases. Nor will it stop us from greatly expanding our prison system with more frequent and longer sentences if that seems indicated and supported by the people. The public's role in holding costs is hardly better than that of the legislature, having recently passed expensive programs in sewage treatment. Viet Nam veterans benefits and recreation facilities

Since a major part of the State's present budget goes not for Senate programs but for grants to local programs such as public health, schools and local government, costs could can force the legislature to provide local funds as appropriations must be by a majority vote.

Proposal C is not a vote on government spending. It is a vote on forms of taxation. If you prefer property tax to the State mixture of sales, income, business, gambling, liquor and cigarette taxes - support Proposal C. If you find property taxes more of a hardship than the State mixture vote NO.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Burt Reynolds, 40, who was hospitalized with chest pains over the weekend, has returned to Michael Dittlinger Sr., secretary of the longe. Ferguson, 88, of East Kalamazon street, Bloomingdale, joined the lodge in 1911 and served as master in 1915.

Members receiving 50 year plus were Elmer Miller, Grand Junction; Lee Wilkinson, ruute 6, Allegan; LaVere "Cub" Bair, Bloomingdale; Harry Lackie, Bloomingdale; Verne Congdon, Allegan: Harold Harbolt, Fla.:

Portland, Ore. seven-year liaison until she met Chris Tabori — Vivcea Lind-

Q: How are things turning out for Boris Spassky, the Russian chess master who lost to Bobby Fischer? - N.G.,

A: Boris, a nice guy, has clearly had it in Russia. His state pay has been cut in half because, as he tells it, "It is not Spassky who lost that match — it's the entire Soviet Union." He's in France at the moment; may marry a French him there's a silver lining.

Q: How is my old favorite Rita Hayworth doing? I always watch her in the oldies on TV. - U.D., Denver.

A: Right now, Rita is in the middle of a lawsoit. She's su-ing her former business manager for more than a million dollars. The actress claims that she lost all her money following his advice about tax shelters.

Q: Seems to me I read that Russia's great peet Yevgeny Yevtushenko is on the loose in London, sounding off like a capitalist - imperialist. Does he have a charmed life? — S.P., Austin, Tex.

A: He apparently does, the Soviet spellbinder's been reading a lot of Western verses at his recitals and now says Rudyard Kipling's a favorite.
"They say Kipling was only an imperialist," shouts Yevgeny. "What means all this imperialist? He is a great poet." Then he recites "The Road to Mandalay" with passion - in Russian.

BRAWL TIME: London's theater scene has been enlivened by a spirited backs-tage clash between Vanessa theater Redgrave and actress Shella Hancock who are appearing in the same show. Vanessa barged into Sheila's dressing room a few minutes before curtain time, hell-bent on pursuading her and the east to support her bid to change Equity voting rules. Sheila was not amused. "Get out." she said. After some forceful per-suasion, beautiful but aggressive Vanessa left.
